presents

Lunch lecture: The tenure track system at Wageningen University & Research

Have you considered doing a tenure track after your PhD? Do you want to hear the experience from people following the tenure track and how the tenure track system works? Then join our lunch lecture.

Prof. Dr. Ir. Tiny van Boekel:

Chair of Food Quality and Design until 2012, Dean of Education from 2012-2017. Extraordinary chair of Dairy Science & Technology since 2017. He was involved in the innovation of the tenure track system. Tiny will provide us with general information about the tenure track. He will also elaborate on the innovations relevant for PhD students and new tenure tracker.

Dr. Markus Stieger:

Markus is associate professor at Human Nutrition and Food Quality and Design.

He will tell us about his experiences and the tasks of a tenure track candidate.

Monday April 16th 2018
